MORE HONORS

Are Heaped Upon Admiral Dewey.

Dewey Divides Honors With His Captains

Howison, Sampson and Schley are Lustily Cheered.

Presentation of New York City's Loving Cup to Dewey One of the First Numbers on the Program - Dewey's Acknowledgment - Schley and Dewey Meet in the Presence of Thousands of Cheering People, Who Yelled Themselves Hoarse for the Admirals - Millions of People in the Big City - The Dewey Arch Movement - Admiral Schley the Second in Receiving Honors.

By Associated Press to the Journal.

New York, Sept. 30.—The second day of New York City's welcome to Admiral Dewey opened clear and cool. The first ceremony performed today was the presentation of the loving cup to Admiral Dewey, by Mayor Van Wyck on behalf of the city of New York.

City hall park was filled to its utmost limit with people, who shouted a noisy welcome as Dewey came in sight. In regard to the demonstrations of yesterday and last night Dewey said: "It was magnificent."

Governor Roosevelt and Seth Low were among the first to arrive at the city hall for the presentation ceremony. Rear-Admiral Schley, in full dress, was the center of attraction, and was kept busy shaking hands with those introduced to him. Captain Coghlan came in and was greeted with "Ho! der Kaiser."

Dewey almost hugged Schley and patted Coghlan on the back. As Dewey greeted Schley the crowd went up cheer after cheer for "Dewey and Schley." As soon as the greetings were over the mayor began his speech, presenting the city's loving cup.

When Mayor Van Wyck concluded Dewey replied:

"It would be quite impossible to express in words how deeply I am moved by this—these honors, after one—another—that beautiful cup, freedom of the city, this great magnificent reception. I cannot say what I want to, but speaking for myself and the gallant squadron I had the honor to command at Manila, I thank you from the bottom of my heart."

After the formal ceremonies Dewey went about shaking hands with friends.

Rottenness in High Places.

Oregonian, September 27.

An unsavory story comes from New York about the treasurer of the United States. In brief, it is that he took a large sum of money deposited in his bank by his aged sister, and refused to account to her for it. Suit became necessary, and the findings of a referee against him were entered in the supreme court of New York on the 27th inst. for $21,000. The defense was that the money had been lent him, that he had given notes to his sister, and had paid interest on them. Newspaper reports say that "the referee finds against him on all these points." Making allowance for chances of family misunderstandings, it would seem impossible, if he should be a man of truth and honor, that there should be such great discrepancy between the defense he presents and the findings of the referee, which the court has just entered as its judgment. When to this discreditable affair is added the story of money borrowed, but not repaid, while he was assistant treasurer of New York, it seems to be settled beyond doubt that Ellis H. Roberts is lacking in the strict integrity which ought to signalize the character of the man who holds the high office of treasurer of the United States. But of just such material is selected a large part of President McKinley's appointments to office.

MORE BIG GOLD FIELDS DISCOVERED

The New Fields 100 Miles North of Cape Nome, Alaska.

By Associated Press to the Journal.

TACOMA, Sept. 30.—Another story of gold discoveries in the North has been brought down by Colonel Frank Haight, a well-known Salt Lake mining man, who has mining interests in Alaska. Colonel Haight was one of the few passengers who came down on the Albatross, which had come directly from Anvil City. He says that a short while before he left there some prospectors came in with a report of a great strike at Cape Prince of Wales, which is about 100 miles north of Cape Nome. Colonel Haight says that there was an immediate stampede for the new grounds, and many of the miners who had good claims on the beach at Cape Nome joined in.
